HITLER'S DEMAND: ALL POLAND

MARCHING MILLIONS WARN 'WAR'

With an estimated ten million men under arms (see Page 11) troubled Europe today faced a new ultimatum from Adolf Hitler threatening the carving up of Poland. The situation at press-time stood thus:

BERLIN—Hitler reported informing Chamberlain he insists on having Danzig and full settlement with Poland through a German protectorate over Poland if by peace or a Polish partition if by war; British ambassador flies to Fuehrer; decisive turn in German-Polish issue seen impending. Exodus of British and French citizens from German capital begins.

PARIS—Thousands of reservists take up posts; men under arms exceed 1,000,000; ambassadors instructed to outline firm French stand by Poland.

MOSCOW—Von Ribbentrop lands in Moscow and begins negotiations to set quick seal on Russian-German non-aggression pact.

LONDON—British ambassador to Berlin instructed to tell Hitler Britain will "resist to uttermost" resort to force against Poland which latter resists; London put on air raid defense basis; Germany closes her eastern frontiers to aircraft from 6 p. m. today until 8 p. m. Saturday.

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt cuts vacation trip, starts for Capital on cruiser Tuscaloosa under forced draft. Secretary of State Hull hurries back from vacation at White Sulphur Springs, Va.

WARSAW—Clash between Polish, German troops reported. Poles shoot at German transport plane over Polish Corridor.

'POLAND OR WAR'--- HITLER

HITLER EATS OWN WORDS

While Communists and Nazis are finding mutual excuses today for the curious non-aggression agreement between their opposing philosophies and governments, Adolf Hitler is eating the words he spread on the pages of "Mein Kampf" ("My Battle") six years ago.

"The present-day rulers of Russia have no intention of entering into an alliance honorably or of sticking to one," Hitler wrote. "Germany is the next great objective of Bolshevism. It is folly to become allied with a power whose master is the deadly enemy of our future."

Hitler in "Mein Kampf" went further and described the Red council in most uncomplimentary terms.

"We must not forget," he wrote, "that they are low, blood-stained criminals, that it means dealing with the scum of humanity, and that, favored by circumstances in a tragic hour; they overran a great state and in a fury of massacre wiped out millions of their most intelligent fellow-countrymen.

"We must not forget that those rulers belong to a nation which combines a rare mixture of bestial cruelty and vast skill in lies, and considers itself specially called now to gather the whole world under its bloody oppression."

Why, then, does Hitler enter into an accord with Russia?

Read the answer in the editorial "Why?" on Page 20 today.

Nazi Tells Britain Fate Of Czechs Awaits Poles

BY PIERRE J. HUSS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Aug 23—Chancellor Adolf Hitler has sent a strongly-worded, detailed memorandum to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Britain setting forth his minimum requirements in Poland, it was learned reliably today.

In the memorandum, Hitler is reported to have informed Britain that, as regards Poland, he was giving this choice:

If Poland fights—her complete partition.

If Poland yields, liquidation of the Polish army into a police force, and establishment of a German protectorate over Poland, similar to that over Bohemia and Moravia which has been in effect since last March.

In any event, Hitler is reported to have told Chamberlain Germany must have Danzig.

Hitler said, it was understood, that he remains adamant regarding Poland, with the contention that it is a German dispute, not continental, and therefore there is no reason to make it a question of war or peace.

30-MINUTE TALK

The message was sent to Chamberlain through private and highly trustworthy channels. It was one of an exchange of letters between the two conferees of last year's momentous meetings, and the exchange finds as its latest development the flying trip of Sir Nevile Henderson, British ambassador, to Berchtesgaden to see Hitler.

The first exchange of Chamberlain-Hitler letters reportedly occurred a couple of weeks ago. Then, as now, Sir Nevile saw Hitler with the British reply.

An official announcement said Hitler received Sir Nevile at Berchtesgaden. The interview lasted 30 minutes, after which the British envoy returned to Salzburg.

German circles emphasized the

Hitler's Demands

BERLIN, Aug. 23 (AP)—Reliable sources declared this afternoon that Adolf Hitler told Sir Nevile Henderson, British ambassador, Germany could not modify her demands or vital rights because of the British guaranty of Poland.

These demands and "vested rights," it is understood, were:

1—The unconditional return of Danzig to the Reich.

2—The return of those sections of Poland which were once German, namely, Pommerellen, Pomorze and Polish Upper Silesia.

3—A rearrangement of Polish-German relations much along the lines of the protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia.

F. D. CUTS VOYAGE AND HURRIES BACK

ABOARD U. S. S. LANG AT SEA, Aug. 23 (AP)—Gravely concerned over the European crisis, President Roosevelt abandoned plans today for exploration of the Gulf Stream on a fishing trip and ordered the cruisers Tuscaloosa and Lang to speed to Sandy Hook, New Jersey.

The Tuscaloosa, carrying the President, is expected to arrive at Sandy Hook Thursday morning. Boarding a special train the President will arrive in Washington shortly after noon.

Mr. Roosevelt was silent on what steps, if any, he planned upon his return to the capital.

Reporters recalled his recent press conference statement that congressional refusal to enact neutrality legislation had tied his hands and prevented American attempts to avert war.

Newspapermen aboard the Lang immediately sought information by radio to the Tuscaloosa upon these points:

Whether a European war would necessitate a special session of Congress on neutrality.

Whether there was any possi-

1795--POLAND'S FIGHT FOR AN INDEPENDENT NATION--1939

POLAND BEFORE WAR—Since 1795, when Germany, Russia and Austria partitioned Poland, dreams of the Polish people had been for an independent nation which came into being under Versailles Treaty in 1919. Stolen territory was restored as this map shows.

POLAND AFTER WAR—Almost fanatic patriots, the Polish people took their place in the sun after the war. Mindful of the ever-present ambitions of aggressor nations, Poland built up her army under a "strong man" government keystone between East and West.

POLAND OF FUTURE?—With France and Britain as allies, Poland today rattled the sabre as Germany demanded return of Danzig, threatened a new dismemberment if war comes. So, Poland may revert to her 1795 stauts . . . if she and her allies lose and Russia enters with Germany.

368.85 M.P.H. New World Auto Mark

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Aug. 23 (AP)—A new world land speed record of 368.85 miles per hour—better than six miles a minute—was set today by John R. Cobb, London fur broker, in his 24-cylinder "Railton Red Lion."

Cobb, who shot his turtle-shaped car over the first lap at the phenomenal speed of 370.75 miles per hour, struck an average on two runs over the measured mile far above the previous mark of 357.5 m. p. h. held by another Englishman, Capt. George E. T. Eyston.

Cobb also smashed Eyston's kilometer record with a speed of 369.74. Eyston's kilometer record was 357.34.

Cobb's kilometer mark became the official world record. The 368.85, however, for the measured mile is the accepted standard of speed racing.

Cobb's return trip was made at 366.97. He used slightly more than half of his hour's allotted time to make the required two runs.

Cobb, a 200-pound man with a friendly smile, pounded through the kilometer at 367.92 miles per hour on the initial sprint, then sped back at 371.59, indicating his acceleration increased as he whizzed along to victory.

Red Railton, with Cobb's triumph, became the first man to claim the achievement of having designed the world's fastest land and water machines. Last week Sir Malcolm Campbell of London, in a boat designed by Mr. Railton, smashed his own world water mark with an average of 141.74 miles per hour.

If YOU Could Speed Like John Cobb—

Cobb's new speed record of a mile in 10.2 seconds means that if you lived in a 20-mile radius of Boston, you could quit work at 5 p. m. and be home at approximately 3 minutes and 24 seconds after 5.

You COULD do this but you'd need—

1. A salt flat road with no cross streets—

2. A streamlined 24-cylinder car—

3. Super driving ability.

4. No traffic cops.

BRIDAL

WED—Henry E. Russell and his new bride, the former Louise Harding, both prominent in Boston society, are shown leaving the First Parish Church, Brookline, after their marriage.

Iturbi Girl's Hero Love Idyl on Rocks

NEW YORK, Aug. 23—It was the "perfect marriage" when it took place on Jan. 21, 1936, but now the romance of Stephen Hero, concert violinist and a child prodigy at eight years, and the former Maria Iturbi has come apart.

Maria, daughter of Jose Iturbi, Spanish pianist and symphony conductor, has filed a separation suit against Hero, charging that he was hardly that after all because he deserted and has failed to support her.

The violinist has filed a counter suit before Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand E. Pecora, alleging it was she who deserted him—because his earnings were too small to provide her with the luxuries she thought were her right.

Stephen Hero

Violinist Hero and vivacious, dark-eyed Maria were married at Bedford Hills, N. Y., but have lived apart since Feb. 25. They have two children.

Hero, who was only 20 when he married Maria, then 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Hero of Forest Hills, L. I. Although he was born in America, his father, likewise a musician, came here from Poland in 1914.

Young Hero studied the violin under Jacques Thibaud and Louis Persinger, but could play the strings at the age of five after only three weeks' instruction by his father.

At the age of eight he made his public debut, being marked immediately as a prodigy.

PERHAPS PARROT CAN TELL JUDGE

The Suffolk probate court had a tough one tossed into its lap today—the problem of "judicially determining" the identity of a parrot, marking the first time the majesty of the law has ever been asked to cope with such a question in Suffolk county.

The parrot is a yellow-headed green Mexican parrot, gruff and reticent, and he came under the eye of the court because 11 years ago the late Fred D. Allen left a $5000 trust fund to insure his care.

When the State Street Trust Co. made its routine account of its stewardship to Judge William M. Prest recently, the judge appointed Atty. Paul M. Foss to examine the accounts.

QUESTION OF IDENTITY

In his report filed with Register of Probate Arthur W. Sullivan, Lawyer Foss said he had visited the home of Mrs. Nina B. Allen, the testator's widow, in whose care the parrot was left.

There, he said, he found a yellow headed green Mexican parrot, of a species the name of which occupied fully half a line of the report. So far so good.

But was it the same parrot?

Had the State St. Trust Co. perhaps been paying more than $200 a year for the care of an Foss put it, an imposter?

These questions bothered the lawyer, and in his report he passed them on to the court for judicial determination.

HUS BAFFLED

"The identification of a parrot is perhaps more necessary than that of a person," said lawyer Foss, adding that while records and such make it comparatively easy to tell who a person is, it is different with parrots."

Confessing that he is unable to tell one parrot from another, and that furthermore, the late Mr. Allen's aunt's parrot maintained a dignified silence during the legal interview, Foss added:

"The persons, unborn or unascertained, whose interests I represent, are entitled to have the identity of the testator's aunt's parrot judicially determined and established with such definiteness that, if the bird now in the care of Mrs. Allen be the genuine autre vie referred to in item 9 of the will, and if it should predecease the cestui, another parrot of the same species could not readily be substantiated."

EVEN TRICKS FAIL

He confessed in the report that he was unable to tell one parrot from another. You couldn't even depend on their tricks of speech, he said, because they imitate, and don't talk.

As for the late Mr. Allen's aunt's parrot, all the time Foss was interviewing him in the discharge of his legal duties, he didn't talk at all, the lawyer reported.

"I have no reason to suspect that the said parrot is Mrs. Allen's care is an imposter—that is, not the testator's aunt's parrot," reported Foss.

"On the other hand, it might be a pretender, even without her knowledge. I suggest that the court judicially determine the facts."

One circumstance Lawyer Foss failed to mention in his report—that the letterhead emblem of the Union Trust Co., trustee of the $5000 fund until its merger with the State St. Trust, is a parrot.

Sea Burial for U. S. Family

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 23 (AP)—A strange burial in the deepest part of the Atlantic, comingling the ashes of a woman who once was entertained by European royalty with those of her husband and child, will be given Mrs. Eleanor Massie Hope of Shreveport, La.

Sterling Stewart, Cass County lumberman, said today he was sworn to secrecy about some of the details, but divulged he was one of 11 persons asked to participate in the ceremony.

Between New York and Liverpool the ashes of Mrs. Hope, her husband, George D. Hope, once prosperous lumberman, and their daughter, will be placed in a copper urn, covered with a floral blanket 5 feet square and cast off to sink to the ocean's bottom. Then the 11 persons will continue to Europe on a tour of the late Mrs. Hope's expense. The husband and daughter are buried here, and their bodies will be exhumed.

Stewart said Mrs. Hope once found so many diamonds on her husband's 10,000-acre timber holding in Arkansas that she gave a bridge party and presented the winners with the jewels.

After her husband's death Mrs. Hope went to Europe to live for a time.

"She wrote me frequently during the years she lived in England," Stewart said.

"She was a house guest of Queen Mary. She danced many times with the Duke of Windsor when he was the Prince of Wales. She entertained him at her home and he gave parties in her honor."

Seize Fugitive Boy In Killing of Chum

MONTROSE, Cal., Aug. 23 (AP)—Police Officer P. C. Stebbins arrested Richard Jensen, 14, today and said he admitted striking a playmate because "he called me a convict."

William Williams, 13, was found dying yesterday beneath the home of Jensen's parents, his throat choked with wire and his skull crushed.

Stebbins found the boy riding his bicycle near the beach at Venice, Calif., 25 miles from Montrose.

"At first he denied he was Richard Jensen," Stebbins said. "He told us he was Richard's twin brother. We found some bloodstains on his clothing. Then he admitted his identity."

The policeman quoted the boy as saying:

"He called me a convict. He was teasing me about spending time at Whittier (state school). After I hit him a couple of times, everything went black."

Police released him to sheriff's deputies from Los Angeles.

Sheriff's Capt. James Burns and Deputies Larry Cormack and Virgil Gray, who questioned the Jensen boy's mother, Mrs. Frances Jensen, said she heard unusual noises in the basement yesterday and went to investigate.

They quoted her:

"When I got to the door leading under the house, Richard called and said, 'Don't come in here, Ma.'

"When I asked him why, he said 'Don't come in here, Ma, because I just killed Billy Williams.'

"Then he ran to the garage, got his bicycle and raced away. I screamed to him to stop, but he paid no attention."

The Williams boy, garroted with a strand of copper wire, his skull crushed with a claw hammer and his body showing knife wounds, died as he was being removed to an ambulance.

'BLUE' FORCES SET 'TO SAVE NEW YORK FROM INVASION'

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y., Aug. 23—Successful in a theoretical invasion of the New England coast, a "black" army moved cautiously today through the foothills of the Adirondacks, ready for a quick thrust on New York City.

The invaders this afternoon will encounter the first outposts of a defending "blue" force, numerically smaller but equipped with the latest high speed devices of warfare.

The impending "battle" is to climax the First Army maneuvers in which 52,000 troops—greatest peace-time mobilization in the nation's history—have engaged during the last 10 days.

Composing the "Black" army are four National Guard divisions from eight states, a force of approximately 36,000 men. The "Blues" consist of the first division, 18th Infantry Brigade and mechanized 7th Cavalry, all regular army units with a combined strength of 16,000.

Lieut. General Hugh A. Drum, commander of the first army, is directing the operations of the "Blacks." The defenders are led by Major General James A. Woodruff.

The national guard divisions participating include the 26th Massachusetts and 43rd New England, which comprise the first corps under Major General Morris B. Payne, and the 27th New York and 44th New York-New Jersey, which make up the second corps under Major General William N. Haskell.

To reach the "jump off" stations from which the war was launched, most of the units moved out of their scattered base encampments early in the morning. Long marches, either on foot or in trucks, lay ahead of many of the troops, already hardened by intensive combat exercises.

The out come of the mimic war will be decided by a staff of 350 umpires, who have been functioning in a similar capacity during two-sided regimental, division and corps maneuvers during the past week.

Vets Parade Plans Speeded

With Gov. Saltonstall named chief dignitary, plans for the Veterans of Foreign Wars' 40th national parade next Tuesday neared completion today.

The state chief executive will be honorary grand marshal of the convention parade. Brig. Gen. Francis V. Logan will be chief of staff with Col. Thomas F. Murphy and Maj. Edward F. Corbett as his aides.

It was announced 125 corps have been entered for the "Pageant of Drums" at the Harvard Stadium next Wednesday, which promises to be the biggest event of its kind ever held in the country.

INDICT ANNENBERG IN PERJURY PLOT

CHICAGO, Aug. 23 (AP)—M. L. Annenberg, millionaire publisher, today was accused of conspiracy by a federal grand jury which also recommended the dissolution of his vast racing news empire because it "depended almost entirely on illegal gambling."

The special federal grand jury, in session 27 days in its inquiry into alleged violation of monopoly and racketeering laws, returned a presentment along with its indictment of Annenberg and three others on charges of conspiracy to influence a witness before the jury.

James V. Hayes, special assistant attorney-general who handled the case, said the witness, Clarence J. Ferguson, a Philadelphia detective who for 20 years was on the vice and gambling squad there, was innocent of any wrongdoing and immediately informed the government of the alleged conspiracy.

Indicted with Annenberg were Louis Simon, a personal friend of Annenberg, formerly of Milwaukee and now living in Philadelphia; Patrick J. Burns, Chicago, an associate of James Ragen, general manager of Annenberg's Nation-wide News Service, a turf information agency; Dominick B. Lynch, also known as Jack Lynch, described as a Philadelphia night club proprietor.

They were charged with conspiracy to suborn perjury by Ferguson and "to influence the due administration of justice by attempting to persuade Ferguson to give false testimony."

The indictment alleged four overt acts, one specifically the payment of $100 to Ferguson in Chicago.

Back-Home-to-Buy Number on Sept. 5

With Summer skimming rapidly down the home stretch and vacation-time drawing to a close, the trek back from seashore and country will begin shortly by rail, family car, bus, steamship and the air.

After New England's most perfect summer in a weather way for years, the first bell for opening of schools in Boston will ring maddolefully for most of the kids—just two weeks from tomorrow.

That is the youngsters' headache as the days slip by rapidly and dusk comes down across the lake each day a minute or two earlier than the one before.

But the grownups' thoughts, as usual, are for the replenishing of wardrobes, the determination, at last, not to go through another winter with that old living room set and the necessity for otherwise refurbishing family quarters.

And so—again this year—the Boston Evening American and Daily Record will move to aid such shoppers with a Back-Home-to-Buy number to be published on Tuesday, September 5, the day after Labor Day.

Through this Back-Home-to-Buy number, patterned after the first one, issued last year and which won considerable praise, shoppers will be aided immeasurably in getting ready for Fall and Winter.

Pa, of course, must get rid of that sun-rusted and battered straw top and crawl under a new Fall dicer; mother's trick hat of last Spring is now outmoded, the topcoat that junior complained was too large for him five months ago he will be surprised to discover is now too snug.

Sister Marjorie's dresses have crawled up above her knees and she must have new ones. Sister Ruthie has sprung up like a weed and nothing, absolutely, that she had will fit her.

Even her feet won't go into the school shoes she discarded for the sport togs of summer, and once she kicked Junior on the shins, with a bare foot on the float at the lake, because he pointed at them and called her Garbo. She limped the rest of the day.

The Boston stores are ready, of course, for the rush, with complete new and seasonal stocks, but the aim of these newspapers is to make your shopping easier through the Back-Home-to-Buy number.

It will be—if you will—a route map for shoppers. Watch for it on Tuesday, Sept. 5!

Hovey Heads State's First Aviation Board

Five unpaid members of the new State Aviation Commission, to supervise all aviation activities in Massachusetts, were nominated today by Governor Saltonstall and sent, with other appointments, to the executive council for action.

The other appointments were those of Louis R. Shaffer of Fellsmere rd., Malden, lawyer and former alderman, to be clerk of Malden Court, vice Wilfred Tyler, retired, and Garrett S. Hoag of Garden rd., Wellesley, Boston lawyer, to be director of liquidation for closed banks at $5000 a year.

As the first State Aviation Commission, the Governor named Chandler Hovey of Hammond st., Newton, as chairman to hold the one-year term; Dr. Jerome Clarke Hunsaker, of M. I. T., for two years; Robert M. Love, president of Inter-City Airlines, for three years; John M. Wells, of Southbridge, for four years, and Gardiner H. Fiske, of Weston, for five years.

FOR CLOSED BANKS

The office of director of liquidation for closed banks is a new one created by the Legislature at the urging of Bank Commissioner William P. Husband, Jr.

Since closing of numerous banks, the bank commissioner has had charge of their liquidation through an agent.

John L. Delaney was appointed by former Governor Hurley to look after that work but was relieved a few weeks ago and William T. Halliday appointed. Although Delaney has continued on the state payroll, it is reported he will be dropped when the new director is confirmed.

Of the five appointees to the aviation board, Chandler Hovey is an investment broker, a noted yachtsman, director of various aviation interests, and is a grandson of C. F. Hovey, founder of the Hovey store.

Barre Sheriffs Hurl Gas Shells in New Strike Riot

SOUTH BARRE, Aug. 23 (AP)—Sheriff's deputies discharged at least four tear gas shells and half a dozen gas grenades into a milling crowd in front of the struck Barre Wool Combing Co. plant today, after a woman strike sympathizer smashed a window of an automobile carrying workers into the plant.

Hardly had the melee subsided when Frank Inzerillo, secretary-treasurer of the Barre local of the United Textile Workers union (A. F. of L.) appealed to Senator Robert M. Lafollette of the congressional civil liberties committee to intervene and "secure for us some degree of civil liberties."

The altercation marked the first use of tear gas in the four-week strike and occurred as South Barre citizens were demanding State Police help avert repetition of a clash last night, in which 11 persons, including a 10-year-old girl, were injured by flying stones.

One of today's gas shells struck a 24-year-old youth in the leg, causing serious injury. He was identified by friends as Jerry Sirdote of South Barre, a striker.

The deputies said they had warned the crowd previously to stay on the opposite side of the street from the plant and fired only when it broke from this position as deputies started after the woman glass-breaker.

The officers employed a tear gas shell which jumped and bounced around after landing, preventing its return. Nevertheless, some of the deputies themselves felt the effect of the gas as the breeze blew the fumes backward.

Women screamed and several fainted as the gas exploded, but the crowd broke only momentarily and quickly reformed lines for new mass picketing.

The tear gas spread quickly through the streets and within an hour everybody out-of-doors was wiping tear-filled eyes.

Deputies arrested one man, placed handcuffs on him and led him away. At police headquarters he was booked as Albert Carruia, 26, a striker, charged with throwing a rock at a deputy sheriff.

While the picketers were busy wiping their eyes, about 50 men, walking in single file and protected by deputies, succeeded in entering the mill.

U.S. TAKES OVER BOND PROBE

The federal government took complete charge of the alleged bond swindle racket case today with the arraignment of Josef Schmidt, unemployed Back Bay waiter, before U. S. Commissioner George E. Lilley on charges of conspiracy to violate the national banking act.

At the same time, a new angle was injected into the case when Asst. U. S. Atty. William T. McCarthy told the Commissioner he had reason to believe some of the bonds were genuine, probably stolen.

While McCarthy refused to enlarge on his statement in court, it was learned on good authority that three of the Kingdom of Belgium bonds found in Boston were authentic.

Named with Schmidt, who is already held in $20,000 bail by the state on charges connected with the alleged bond racket, were Eileen Cooke, 20, maid in an exclusive Beacon st. club; Carl Eckert, a waiter, and Frederick Schneider, of Pawtucket, who is being sought by federal authorities. Eckert is confined to his cell in the East Cambridge jail with an attack of tonsilitis. Miss Cooke is free on $5000 bonds.

Breed to Study Old Colony

In a further step toward ironing out the Old Colony R.R. problem, Atty.-Gen. Paul A. Dever today appointed Prof. Charles B. Breed, head of the department of civil engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, to make a survey of the road.

With a hearing scheduled for next Monday on the proposed abandonment of the division by the New Haven road, lessor of the Old Colony, Sept. 24, Dever announced that Prof. Breed will begin his study of the facts and figures in the case on his return from his summer vacation, Sept. 12.

Prof. Breed will require about four months, Dever said, to complete his report on whether or not the road can be operated profitably.

HUMAN SEEDS PLANTED UNDER SKIN OF 10 WOMEN

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 23—Sex hormones, in the form of crystals the size of small seeds, have been planted under the skin of 10 women at Mt. Sinai Hospital here.

The effects to date are more promising than monkey-gland operations, now generally discarded, of the injection of sex hormones which succeeded that method. They are reported today in the Journal of Science by Udall J. Salmon, Robert I. Walter and Samuel H. Geist.

The idea is that crystals, which are the pure chemical produced by a sex gland, will act like glands, dissolving slowly, releasing their health-giving compounds over a long period of time.

In those first 10 cases, the crystals have apparently done just that. It is now from two to three months since they were planted, and they still show "activity," the report states. All were used on women suffering from effects of change of life.

One surprising result is that less of the hormone is needed by the seed-planting method than when the same substance is injected in liquid form, usually dissolved in oil, through a needle. The hypodermic needle way, the report says, is too expensive for most patients as well as troublesome on account of frequent injections.

The crystals used in the experiment weighed only four to seven milligrams apiece. The report suggests that crystals of 25 to 50 milligrams can be used. The planting is done in a superficial cut about one inch long. At Mt. Sinai they was just below the hips. However, animal experiments have shown that the effect of an implanted hormone is the same regardless of where it is planted.

France Puts Million Troops Under Arms

PARIS, Aug. 23 (AP)—France was reported today to have dispatched "strong" instructions to her ambassadors in Europe while thousands of reservists, taking up front posts, pushed estimates of the number of Frenchmen under arms to more than 1,000,000.

Contents of the diplomatic notes were not disclosed by government sources which told of their transmission, but it was believed generally they reasserted France and Britain were prepared to go to war if Poland saw fit to resist a German attack.

French leaders warned the country a showdown in the German-Polish dispute was a matter of days only.

The government awaited a report from its Moscow ambassador, Paul Emile Naggiar, who was instructed to ask the Soviet government the meaning of its proposed non-aggression pact with Germany.

On that report will depend the government's decision whether to break off its negotiations with Russia envisaging the Red army's aid against Germany in event of a European war.

A cabinet session, under President Lebrun, was scheduled for tomorrow.

Rumania to War Only If Attacked

BUCHAREST, Aug. 23 (AP)—A high source said today King Carol's government had notified Poland that Rumania would not enter a European war unless her own frontiers were attacked.

It was disclosed that Poland inquired recently what action Rumania was prepared to take in case Poland was involved in a conflict with other powers.

The official answer was said to have been:

"Rumania will in any case remain neutral. Only if Rumania is attacked, will she go to war."

Bulletins

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP)—The Home Office took steps today to place England's air raid precautions on virtually a "war basis," effective tonight.

Arrangements were made for immediate extinguishing of London's lights "at any time it is considered necessary."

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 23 (AP)—Elaborate military preparations were made here today as boom defenses were placed in the harbor and all gun manned 24 hours.

LONDON, Aug. 23 (INS)—A Reuter dispatch from Berlin tonight stated a German passenger plane, flying between Berlin and Danzig allegedly was fired upon by Polish anti-aircraft guns.

The German Official News Agency, DNB, circulated a dispatch branding the alleged incident "unheard of Polish provocation and an insolent act of lawlessness by Polish pirates."

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP)—A number of key men who would co-ordinate Britain's air raid precautions machinery in war time have gone to their posts at the control "nerve center"—a Whitehall basement—and will live there until further notice, it was learned authoritatively today.

MALTA, Aug. 23 (AP)—All Malta's defenses were manned and her air raid warnings tested today as a result of heightened tension in Europe.

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 23 (AP)—Australia's determination to give Britain "complete support in war if peace efforts fail" was announced today by Prime Minister Robert Menzies after a cabinet meeting.

BOMBAY, Aug. 23 (AP)—Reports from Simla, India's "summer capital," indicated mobilization orders might be issued for Indian army reserve officers as a result of the European situation.

LONDON, Aug. 23 (INS)—Stock markets strengthened today despite the dismal war news. Under heavy continental buying, gilt-edged oils and internationals led the recovery.

Henderson Gives Hitler War Threat

By CHARLES A. SMITH

International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 23—In a dramatic move contrasting with Prime Minister Chamberlain's own flight last September, Sir Nevile Henderson, British ambassador in Berlin, today was sent to Berchtesgaden by air to warn Chancellor Hitler in person of Britain's firm attitude.

Sir Nevile will lay directly before Hitler, it was understood, a message from Chamberlain along the lines of yesterday's British cabinet declaration.

It makes clear to Germany that the prospective Russo-German non-aggression pact in no way alters Britain's pledges to fight for Poland's independence.

The French and Polish governments were informed at once of Britain's step.

Sir Nevile, said the official announcement, was instructed by the cabinet to "convey a message personally" to Hitler on behalf of the British government.

While Sir Nevile's message was signed by Chamberlain, it was pointed out that it was not from the prime minister alone. Bearing the approval of the cabinet, the note reflects collective cabinet responsibility.

While watching for the results of this measure, key cabinet ministers wasted no time in implementing yesterday's decision to strengthen the country's fighting forces.

Certain reserves of the Royal Air Force already have been ordered to report for duty, it was learned. It was anticipated that army and navy reserves would get orders later in the day.

STILL HOPES FOR PEACE

Official circles emphasized however, that steps taken today do not represent anything like general mobilization, as those ordered to report were needed for certain key posts to fill gaps and strengthen existing depots.

Britain's decision to send its Berlin ambassador to Berchtesgaden was motivated by determination to make sure that this country's stand is known to Hitler personally.

Britain and France meanwhile today made a bold move, according to the London Daily Mail, to cancel Germany's diplomatic victory and bring the Soviets back into the anti-Fascists fold by permitting Russian troops, in case of war, to cross Polish territory.

Conversations between Paris and London late at night resulted in instructions to the British and French ambassadors in Moscow to inform Premier V. M. Molotov that Poland is now ready to accept Soviet military aid, the Mail's Paris correspondent said.

Such an agreement would remove Russia's main objection to continuing alliance negotiations with France and Britain.

THREAT TO END TALKS

The British-French message, according to the Mail, is being sent in the form of a minor ultimatum. If Molotov is not ready to reply immediately to this new proposal it was predicted, he will be informed that the British and French military missions will be obliged to leave Moscow.

Prime Minister Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax and defense experts meanwhile worked rapidly in preparation for tomorrow's urgent meeting of Parliament, when both Houses are to be asked to pass through an emergency powers bill within two days.

This bill will give the cabinet semi-dictatorial powers, similar to those held by Premier Edouard Daladier in France, to act in any matter concerning the country's defense without consulting Parliament.

Britain, in connection with maneuvers and compulsory military training already is close to mobilization. Under the dictatorial powers about to be given to the cabinet, it is expected that mobilization can be made 95 per cent complete within three days.

Besides putting Britain on a war basis, the emergency powers which the cabinet expects to pass the House of Commons tomorrow and Lords the following day will permit decrees preventing shipment of copper, rubber and similar war materials to Germany. The Reich in the last few days has brought large quantities of these goods from Britain.

The two Houses will be kept in session day by day as long as tension exists.

FOREIGN CITIZENS FLEE REICH

BERLIN, Aug. 23 (AP)—All avenues of travel out of Germany were jammed today with French and British citizens and other foreigners fleeing for fear of war.

No move to evacuate could be efficiently given priority meaning.

Trains ran throughout the day packed with refugees.

British and French citizens were advised by their local diplomatic officials to leave Germany.

American residents besieged consular and diplomatic officials asking for advice. Invariably they were told the United States officials have no information on which to give counsel.

Only one French newspaper correspondent was left behind to hold the French journalistic fort. All British newsmen departed, excepting two press correspondents.

Americans on Riviera Warned to Be Ready

CANNES, Aug. 23 (AP)—United States consular authorities in Nice advised American tourists on the French Riviera today to keep themselves in "a state of readiness."

They said the advice should not be interpreted as an order to evacuate Nice, Monte Carlo and Menton, but that American citizens in those areas should follow international developments closely.

Reserve aides in the Duke and Duchess of Windsor said they plan to remain indefinitely at the Chateau Enchanted at Cap d'Antibes.

Why?

Why [illegible] Munich [illegible] "peace"

Britain, France and England [illegible] a pact [illegible] France and England [illegible] national, territorial and political [illegible].

Germany offered such an alliance to France and England [illegible]

Germany offered [illegible] and Germany if France and England and their [illegible] could be assured [illegible] before the repressive provisions of the Versailles Treaty.

Chamberlain practically agreed to this in the Munich accord.

Peace in Europe seemed assured with a French, English, German and Italian four power alliance.

[illegible] and English radicals and extremists had not been taken into sufficient consideration.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S POLICY had been exceedingly sound.

It united peoples of similar character and convictions.

It made a reasonable and assimilable alliance.

It ended the bitter feuds of the four chief European powers which had been responsible for the tribal warfare of Europe for centuries.

It united the sane and civilized and intelligently progressive nations of Europe against the destructively radical and revolutionary nations.

Aye but therein lay the "rub."

Immediately the radicals in England, the Communists and pseudo Communists, the Reds, the Pinks and the punks, the once-a-yes and the never-wuzzes, all arose on their hind legs and attacked Mr. Chamberlain's reasonable, logical and intelligent policy.

The Laborites, the Lloyd Georges, the Winston Churchills, immediately injected into the situation the greatest curse of [illegible]

The left overs from the last war fatuously imagined that America had learned nothing by experience and could again be [illegible] and financing her [illegible]

All of the disruptive, and destructive elements of the English political arena united to attack Mr. Chamberlain's policy and to embarrass his administration.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN, a good but not very powerful [illegible]

[illegible] with the American Administration [illegible] which forces him safely established on his blood stained throne, [illegible] conduct, but was forced into it by the [illegible] and disunity of the British Empire.

Europe will have peace now, but a peace of dictators, a peace of enthroned tyrants.

THE BEST THING Mr. Chamberlain can do in this emergency is to throw away his worthless war sword, take back his battered peace umbrella, disdain and defy the discredited British radicals and attend the Brussels peace conference called by King Leopold of Belgium.

[illegible] want genuine peace, who want progress, who want freedom and tolerance, to make that conference formidable.

What the outcome of that conference will be no one yet knows [illegible]

But [illegible] Mr. Chamberlain can receive the respect and confidence of the civilized people of [illegible]

Merry-go-round

THUS music starts, and now as [illegible] a [illegible] white steed we ride . . . or in a [illegible] barge . . . by golden dolphin, snowy swan.

We flash through romance-haunted lands . . . where Tancred led his shining bands . . . past moss [illegible] castle's stiffer tower . . . age-old when knighthood was in flower.

A knight in armor now, we dare . . . slay dragons, rescue maidens fair . . . or Saracens hotly [illegible] and gain our deeds of derring do.

The music stops, and we, of course . . . are just astride a hobby-horse.

Human Side of News -:-

By EDWIN C. HILL

ABOUT A YEAR before the death of Huey Long, I sat a few feet away from him as he delivered an address at a New York Club. His big town audience was visibly to be amused by his bayou oratory and clowning.

He fooled them. He was as grammatical as Charles Evans Hughes. He was suave and urbane in dress and speech. He preached no snake oil economics. He put over his points with power and precision.

Knowing Huey for some years, it didn't surprise me in the least, I knew, too, of his fame as the man on the flying trapeze, doing monkeyshines for the mob.

HUEY P. LONG
"Wouldn't Have Allowed It"

THIS DUALITY of political techniques suggested to me that here was possibly the most dangerous demagogue ever at large in this country, and I remember an uneasy impression that if any hobnailed citizen should ever get his feet on our collective neck, this devilishly smart, power hungry political mobster might be the man.

Today's headlines tell of the crumbling of the Long machine, battered by foes within and without. Former Governor Richard W. Leche and Seymour Weiss are indicted. Robert S. Maestri, Mayor of New Orleans, final of the triumvirate, fights with his back against the wall.

Governor Earl Long, Huey Long's brother, feels for the first time in the history of the machine the intensifying pressure of public criticism something that couldn't have happened in the day of the Kingfish.

The story of the rise and fall of Huey Long and his machine illuminates an interesting and hopeful phase of our continuing experiment in self-government, and I think one might deduce from it a sound conclusion that we never will have any rawhead and bloody-bones running this country. The idea is this:

Give a democracy a few decades to work in, and every germ of oppression builds up its own antibody. In the Nietzschean phrase, "strong men digest their sins," but no dictator ever digested all his opposition.

THERE ARE many cases in point. The Populist revolt of the nineties and William Jennings Bryan's gaudy free-silver razzle-dazzle built up and solidified urban opposition. There was an agrarian onslaught which might have given us some bucolic Watt Tyler for a Fuehrer.

When the trusts were ravenous and rampant they were pulled down by collective assault and, again, the battle left strong bulwarks against any such ogre's dominion. No Fuehrer arose either in Wall street or on the banks of the Platte river.

The Ku Klux Klan did overrun five states before it was toppled, and when it was finally in the ashcan, the country was thrice-armed against the political miasma that rises from the swamps of political ignorance and screaming stupidity.

Lodge takes care of the greater part of the unemployed either in the armed forces of the nation or [illegible] people of the country pay for both, especially when there is a war.

[illegible] more acute where war is concerned, tried a new method and started public works to take up the slack of unemployment.

It is just a different answer to the same problem. Both of them cost the taxpayers about an equal amount of money, but one plan leaves something tangible for the good of the nation and eventually is productive of jobs which do not cost the taxpayers money, while the other means a complete loss in the end.

Most of us haven't got vision enough [illegible]

[illegible] a year and make up our minds as to which we prefer.

YESTERDAY I started off at 9 a. m. with Mr. Flanagan, Mr. Wagner and Mrs. Mellen to see N. Y. A. projects in my own neighborhood. We stopped first at the Hudson River State Hospital, which has been most cooperative and which is a very good place for young people to gain experience at real jobs under workmen who have held them for a long time.

We went to the state agricultural experiment station, which, until today, I did not know existed in Poughkeepsie. We visited an abandoned trade school [illegible] been turned over to the N. Y. A. [illegible]

Here I was shown a collection of 50 spoons made from different woods found in this vicinity.

SEAPLANE FLOATS were being built in Poughkeepsie and in Newburgh in preparation for the flight which is to be made next Friday. The Newburgh work center was interesting and we enjoyed an excellent lunch served by girls studying home economics. The work done at the trail museum in Bear Mountain Park by the young people is useful to them and to many sightseers.

The proof of the pudding is in the eating, many of the youngsters are graduating from these programs into jobs.

COMEDY STARS PEN LYONS' COLUMN

By Bud Abbott and Lou Costello

(Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, "Streets of Paris" comedians, pinch-hit for Leonard Lyons, who is on vacation.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—That's just the Abbott luck. Here we get our first chance to be newspapermen and meet interesting people and all they give me to do is interview you.

COSTELLO. What difference does it make? They'll never know you're here. Just use your imagination.

ABBOTT. Do you mean to tell me you're going to try to be a newspaperman for one day? Why you don't even know what a newspaper is. It's not a clothing material.

COSTELLO. Yes, I do. I'm trying to get a newspaper home for my father to work for.

JOE PENNER

ABBOTT. You dumbbell, that's—that paper is dated 1928.

COSTELLO. Well, it was well easier to get then.

ABBOTT. What type of work does your father do?

COSTELLO. He's a diamond cutter.

ABBOTT. You mean he works on precious stones?

COSTELLO. No. He cuts the grass at baseball parks.

ABBOTT. How about getting behind the microphones in Hollywood? Did you ever crack at it? Any big productions?

COSTELLO. Okay. Now Abbott is the boy's name. Tape that. She's on in a minute as "Where were you born?"

ABBOTT. I was born in Coney Island.

COSTELLO. No, never mind. I can't pass a test especially without making cents.

ABBOTT. I never had a degree, as far as I've been in show business ever since I was able to walk. I come of a theatrical family.

COSTELLO. I was a March 6, 1908, baby in Paterson, N. J. Right after I was graduated from high school I hit the old thumb trail to Hollywood. When I landed there I got a job in pictures. How about you, Abbott? Were you ever in pictures?

ABBOTT. Yes, I played in "Dinner at Eight."

COSTELLO. I saw "Dinner at Eight" but I didn't see you.

ABBOTT. Well, I was hungry. I ate at six-thirty.

COSTELLO. Talking about eating, when did we have our first meal together?

ABBOTT. That was ten years ago, wasn't it? We were in burlesque at the time. By the way, Costello, how did you happen to get into burlesque?

COSTELLO. Well, when the talkies came I went out. They fired me. At the time I thought it was the toughest break in my life. I worked my way back East by easy stages. When I got to New York I heard a Minsky burlesque company was looking for someone to take the place of Joe Penner. They thought I resembled Penner and that got me the job.

MDIVANI COSTLY, MAE TELLS COURT

LOS ANGELES Aug. 23 (AP)—"My money," says Mae Murray, helped create the wealth of her ex-husband P. C. Mdivani.

"He took my stocks and bonds, and money and my whole life," the one time star of silent films charged today in a deposition supporting her suit for $12,000 yearly to support their son, Rozan, 12.

"My money gave him those all wells. He betrayed my full confidence. He left me penniless. I have no property, no income.

Garden Offers Jacobs Boxing Monopoly Today

FOR YEARS BOSTON'S PROFESSIONAL boxing has withered away to a pale, anemic skeleton of its once robust self. The elder breed of fighters, like Tony Shucco, Al McCoy, Lou Brouillard and Sammy Fuller are dwindling into that favorite figure of speech—the swirling mists of time. The youth of the region has shied away from fisticuffs. Bad matches, promotional greed and the race-tracks have starved the fight business. The people have padlocked their pockets!

AUSTEN LAKE

Still there is a faint glimmer of hope! Today Walter Brown, enterprising manager of the Boston Garden, is visiting Mike-the-Bite Jacobs in the latter's murky, smoke-fogged office. He hopes to come back with a long term contract, giving Mike a monopoly on Boston big-time fight promotion with the promise that he will bring Billy Conn, Irish-American lightheavy, for a go against an unnamed boxer next month. If the show is a success Mike has promised to bring Henry Armstrong for a November bout . . .

Most ludicrous laugh of the local week is Billy Rose's threat to prosecute Sam Snyder for infringement of his Acquacade idea. Rose, proprietor of the money making water rodeo at the World's Fair, accuses Snyder, who closed his Revere splash carnival this week, of copying his notion, despite the fact that Sam originated the first show and collected the first troupe of swimmers years before Rose entered the scene. One of Sam's first headliners was Eleanor Holm Jarrett, just after the pretty lady created an international furore by tippling champagne on the way to the Olympics. Elea is now Billy's inamorata and the leading lovely of the Fair's water circus, for which she is said to be drawing $75,000 a season. Sam is striving to save his shirt . . .

NEW YORK SPORTS COMMENTATORS are hailing Charles "Red" Ruffing of the Yankees as one of the all-time pitching [illegible] Grover Alexander. [illegible]

[illegible] A florid youth, with full moon features, like Jack Oakie's rubbery countenance, we called him "Huffing puffing Ruffing" in the Raggety Red Sox day when he was a blubbery adolescent, fresh from the Illinois coal mines and giving Bill Carrigan and Bob Quinn the screaming horrors. He had been [illegible] quota of [illegible] pocket and [illegible] ego."

For several years now "Ruff" has been a Yankee ace. [illegible] he is Bob Quinn's one big regret! For one evening in mid-1930 Red contributed to his own drubbing by kicking a hunk into the

CARRYING FLATTENED CARD—Teammates carry infielder Jimmy Brown of the Cards from the field after his hard collision with Johnny Mize reaching for throw-in during game Dodgers won, 8—5 in New York. Mr. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

SANTA ANITA, richest race track in the world, will restrict racing to four days a week when it opens its Winter meeting on December 30.

"This gives Sunday to the Lord and Monday and Tuesday to the merchants," say turf leaders on the Coast who are anxious to avert attacks on the sport of kings.

It is unlikely that Robert Rousseau, sensational 16 year old apprentice rider from Winthrop, will show in New England this year . . . Rousseau has been riding for Andy Ferguson at Agua Caliente . . . On the first day he ever rode in a race, Rousseau brought in two winners . . . It was the influence of racing at Suffolk Downs, near his home, that caused Rousseau to go in for racing.

Senor Horatio Luro, now at Narragansett Park with a stable of South American horses, is a pal of Bing Crosby's and the Howards, senior and Lin . . . Luro is chiefly responsible for so many South American horses being in this country . . . He is called the David Harum of the Argentine.

In California, the price of all daily newspapers has been raised to five cents . . . This is also the price of your daily newspaper in Miami, Fla. and in most parts of the South . . . Harleigh Schultz, who used to be a re-write man and later a movie critic on this newspaper, is connected with the publicity department of MGM in Hollywood.

Charles A. Beardsley, recently elected president of the American Bar Association, is out of bed and on his way to the office each morning between 2 a. m. and 5 p. m. . . . He says he can accomplish a great deal of work when he is alone in his office . . . Attorney Beardsley usually works from 14 to 16 hours a day . . . He has yet to see one of the young lawyers in his office try a case . . . He believes that youngsters in professions and in business should be put on their own as much as possible, and not have a veteran at their elbow to tell them what to do . . . The new head of the American Bar Association is 57 years of age and has been practicing law in Oakland, Cal. for 57 years.

The late Tex Rickard, who was also quite a success, never went to bed until between 2 a. m. and 5 p. m. . . . He would report at his office in the Garden at 1 p. m. and never appeared to be busy . . . He designated all details of his business to a fine staff of assistants, and then thought out championship matches and headlines for the press . . . Rickard couldn't write a 100 word story, but he knew the kind of news that makes page one headlines.

Smith Has No Fear of Racing Competition

RIDING BACK on the train from Narragansett Park Lou Smith, boss of Rockingham Park, says New Jersey and New York racing will not injure the turf game here . . . Smith declares the three New England tracks will still be able to get plenty of horses, while their attendance figures and mutuel handle will be as great as ever . . . Three Jersey mutuel tracks will be in operation in 1940, while New York is expected to have pari-mutuel betting by 1941.

It is in connection with the estate of a Roxbury brewer that Attorney Bernard J. Killion of Brookline and Greenbush is on his way to Germany by way of England . . . The deceased brewer had kin in this country and in Germany . . . Attorney Killion will be back in this country by October 1, and should by that time have gained some interesting information about the tense international situation.

Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York is in Washington for a few days . . . Archbishop Spellman has not taken a vacation this summer as he has been busy with his duties in his new diocese.

Paul Bowser is still at the Grand Circuit races, and will not resume promoting wrestling in Boston until the latter part of September . . . The appearance of the Washington Redskins against an All-Star college football team at Fenway Park on September 11 under Cross-cup-Pishon Post auspices will help decide whether Boston would properly support a professional football team . . . I think it would if the promotion was handled well.

Suggests Day for Lefty Grove

H. F. G. WRITES suggesting that Boston baseball fans start a day for Lefty Grove . . . Lefty certainly deserves some recognition for the fine ball he has pitched for the Sox this year . . . He is the outstanding character in the national pastime today . . . I am not overlooking Joe DiMaggio, Jimmy Foxx, Lefty Gomez, Ted Williams or any of the other heroes . . . I still cast my ballot for Grove.

The Boston Newspapermen's Post of the American Legion will conduct their annual military ball at the Oceanview ballroom, Revere on next Monday evening . . . There will be a concert at 8 p. m. and dancing until 1 a. m. . . . Which reminds me that I have an engagement with Chief of Police M. Stewart of Scituate at the Hatherly Country Club, North Scituate tonight . . . The occasion is the annual ball of the Scituate police department . . . There will be a gala entertainment, and dancing under the stars provided the weather man does his part . . . This is always one of the best shows of the South Shore summer season, and is personally directed by Chief Stewart.

Frank G. Menke's book "Encyclopedia of Sports" has been selected by Oglethorpe University for preservation in the Crypt of Civilation . . . Menke was formerly sports editor of the International News Service, and later ghosted Jack Dempsey's stories for King Features Syndicate . . . More recently Menke has been punching out publicity for the Kentucky Derby.

Dan Carroll and Phil Buccola will add to their racing stable when proper opportunities present themselves.

MEDALIST DRUBBED BY GIRL, 19

DARIEN, Ct., Aug. 23 (AP)—Dorothy Kirby, 19-year-old contender from Atlanta, put on a brilliant show for 14 holes to eliminate Medalist Bea Barrett of Minneapolis, 5 and 4, in the second round of the 43d U. S. women's golf championship today at the Wee Burn Club. Miss Kirby was three under par, with five birdies on her card.

Mrs. Russell C. Mann of Milwaukee went into this afternoon's third round with a 5 and 4 decision over Virginia Guilfoil, Syracuse, N. Y.

MISS GLUTTING WINS

Jane Cothran of Greenville, S. C., moved into the third-round bracket opposite Miss Kirby by putting out Marian McDougall of Portland, Ore., 3 and 1.

Dorothy Traung of San Francisco, and Charlotte Glutting of West Orange, N. J., also advanced. The California woman turned in a 3 and 2 decision over Mrs. Harrison F. Flippin of Abington, Pa., the former Edith Quier, while Miss Glutting won by 4 and 3 from Miss H. Douglas McIlwraith of Ancaster, Ont.

Forced to go extra holes largely through her own mistakes, British champion Pam Barton hit two beautiful shots to the edge of the 19th green and got down in two putts for a birdie 4 to beat Eliamae Williams of Chicago, 1 up.

URUGUAYAN VICTOR

Fay Crocker of Uruguay, the other foreign threat, had to put on a rally down the home stretch to beat Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. C., 2 and 1, after being 3 down at the turn. Her next rival will be Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Cal., a winner by 6 and 4 over Mrs. William Hockenjos of West Orange, N. J.

Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Greensboro, N. C., the 1937 winner, went ahead by eking out a 2 up win over Husky Nancy Hurst of Portland, Ore., but veteran Mary K. Browne, of Cleveland came to the end of her surprising streak and lost 1 up, to Mrs. Thomas R. Rudel of Bayside, N. Y.

Worcester Nine Rests Tonight

3-Cornered Race At Medford Oval

A three-cornered battle between Ed Eng, Rufe Anderson and Bob King for feature honors at the Riverside Park Speedway, Medford, looms tomorrow night in the 25 lap final in one of the deciding New England midget auto championship races.

Ed "Speedy" Eng has been traveling at a record breaking clip, having climbed from fourth to first position in the record for New England title honors in the last four weeks. A loss to King, tomorrow, though, will drop Ed into second place.

Can They Run? Big Spa Question Now

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP)—There still are a few horses scheduled to go under the hammer at Saratoga's sales paddock, but the big annual gamble, the sales of yearlings, is practically over.

The only thing left is for the people who spent over a million and a quarter dollars to wait and see whether they got real horses for their money.

The 12th yearling sale last night was a dull affair which brought in $33,450. Forty-nine yearlings, consigned by L. A. Mosely, Mrs. D. Buckley, Mrs. C. Smith, Dr. Ernest Miller, Herring Brothers and others, went for an average of $683, lowest of the season from the smallest crowd of buyers.

The sale, however, brought the total figure above the 1938 level. This year 825 head sold for $1,331,875, compared with $1,304,500 for 567 head a year ago.

Five Classes On Dilboy Card

One of the best amateur boxing shows ever staged in New England is in store tonight when the final elimination in the Golden Gloves boxing tournament are presented at Dilboy Field, Somerville, with boxing in five classes, the 126, 135, 147, 160 and Heavyweight divisions all open.

With a last, wild scramble on the part of the simon-pure mittman to get into the finals two weeks from today, it looks as though the boys will be in their giving their ak in an attempt to garner one of the beautiful golden gloves prizes.
